 13 felony under state law;

14 (4) "Good faith report," a report made, without malice, by a reporter, which the 15 reporter has reasonable cause to believe is accurate and true;

5           crime, or submits records in support of the good faith report, is immune from any liability,
6           civil or criminal, which might otherwise be incurred or imposed, and has the same
7           immunity for participation in any judicial proceeding resulting from the good faith report.
8           The immunity does not extend to a state employee who participated in the reported
9           improper governmental conduct or crime.

10      Section 3. That a NEW SECTION be added to chapter 3-6C:

11           No state agency may take adverse employment action against a reporter because

23      Section 4. That a NEW SECTION be added to chapter 3-6C:

24           To be eligible for protections under sections 2 and 3 of this Act, a reporter who
25           discloses information about improper governmental conduct or a crime must do so in good
26           faith and upon a reasonable belief that the information disclosed is accurate and true. A
27           disclosure that is made with a reckless disregard for the truth or that the state employee
28           knows or should know is false or malicious is not a good faith report.

1           A reporter may bring a civil action for a violation of section 2 of this Act in the
2 circuit court of Hughes County against the reporter's supervisor, in the supervisor's official

13           A reporter bringing an action under this section may not be required to exhaust
14 existing internal procedures or other administrative remedies.

15           Nothing in this section may be construed to exclude a reporter's remedy pursuant 16 to § 3-6D-22.
