22 When coverage of a prescription drug for the treatment of any medical condition is 23 restricted for use by a health carrier, health benefit plan, or utilization review organization
24 through the use of a step therapy protocol, the covered person and the prescribing health
25 care professional shall have access to a clear, readily accessible, and convenient process
26 to request a step therapy override exception. A health carrier, health benefit plan, or 27 utilization review organization may use its existing medical exceptions process to satisfy 28 this requirement. The process used shall be easily accessible on the internet site of the 29 health carrier, health benefit plan, or utilization review organization.

30 Section 4. That a NEW SECTION be added:

1           58-17H-55. Step therapy override exceptions.

2           A step therapy override exception shall be approved by a health carrier, health 3 benefit plan, or utilization review organization if any of the following circumstances apply:

4 (1) The prescription drug required under the step therapy protocol is contraindicated
5 pursuant to the drug manufacturer's prescribing information for the drug or, due 6 to a documented adverse event with a previous use or a documented medical 7 condition, including a comorbid condition, is likely to do any of the following:

8           (a) Cause an adverse reaction to a covered person;

9           (b) Decrease the ability of a covered person to achieve or maintain reasonable 10 functional ability in performing daily activities;

11           (c) Cause physical or mental harm to a covered person;

12 (2) The prescription drug required under the step therapy protocol is expected to be 13 ineffective based on the known clinical characteristics of the covered person, such 14 as the covered person's adherence to or compliance with the covered person's 15 individual plan of care, and any of the following:

16           (a) The known characteristics of the prescription drug regimen as described in 17 peer-reviewed literature or in the manufacturer's prescribing information 18 for the drug;

19           (b) The health care professional's medical judgment based on clinical practice 20 guidelines or peer-reviewed journals;

21           (c) The covered person's documented experience with the prescription drug 22 regimen;

23 (3) The covered person has had a trial of a therapeutically equivalent dose of the 24 prescription drug under the step therapy protocol while under the covered person's 25 current or previous health benefit plan for a period of time to allow for a positive 26 treatment outcome, and such prescription drug was discontinued by the covered 27 person's health care professional due to lack of effectiveness;

28 (4) The covered person is currently receiving a positive therapeutic outcome on a 29 prescription drug selected by the covered person's health care professional for the 30 medical condition under consideration while under the covered person's current or 31 previous health benefit plan. This subdivision may not be construed to encourage 32 the use of a pharmaceutical sample for the sole purpose of meeting the 33 requirements for a step therapy override exception.

34           Upon approval of a step therapy override exception, the health carrier, health 35 benefit plan, or utilization review organization shall authorize coverage for the prescription

1 drug selected by the covered person's prescribing health care professional if the 2 prescription drug is a covered prescription drug under the covered person's health benefit 3 plan.

4 Except in the case of an urgent care request, a health carrier, health benefit plan,
5 or utilization review organization shall make a determination to approve or deny a request
6 for a step therapy override exception within five calendar days after receipt of complete,
7 clinically relevant written documentation supporting a step therapy override exception
8 under subdivisions (1) through (4) of this section. In the case of an urgent care request, 9 a health carrier, health benefit plan, or utilization review organization shall approve or 10 deny a request for a step therapy override exception within seventy-two hours after 11 receipt of such documentation. If a request for a step therapy override exception is 12 incomplete or additional clinically relevant information is required, the health carrier, 13 health benefit plan, or utilization review organization may request such information within 14 the applicable time period provided in this section. Once the information is submitted, the 15 applicable time period for approval or denial shall begin again. If a health carrier, health 16 plan, or utilization review organization fails to respond to the request for a step override 17 exception within the applicable time, the step therapy override exception shall be deemed 18 granted.

19 If a nonurgent care request for a step therapy override exception is denied, the 20 denial is an adverse determination and the health carrier, health benefit plan, or utilization 21 review organization shall provide notification of adverse determination pursuant to § 58-
22 17H-32. If an urgent care request is denied, the health carrier, health benefit plan, or 23 utilization review organization shall provide notification of adverse determination pursuant 24 to § 58-17H-48. Any denial of a request for a step therapy override exception is subject 25 to the grievance procedures under chapter 58-17I.

- 29 (1) A health carrier, health benefit plan, or utilization review organization from 30 requiring a covered person to try a prescription drug with the same generic name
31 and demonstrated bioavailability or biological product that is an interchangeable

33 coverage for the equivalent branded prescription drug;
