2024 Annual Report

In accordance with South Dakota Codified Law § 1-15-30, the Council of Juvenile Services shall “make special study of, and make an annual report the Governor, the Unified Judicial System, and the Legislature by June thirtieth of each year concerning, the appropriate administration of and provisions for children in need of supervision.”

The South Dakota Department of Corrections (SDDOC) publishes this requirement in their annual statistical report.

The 2024 report was published in January 2025 and contained the following:

Children in Need of Supervision (CHINS) are low risk and high needs juveniles who historically were often committed to the SDDOC due to lack of appropriate alternatives. Figure 6.2 illustrates a significant decrease in the commitment of CHINS following the implementation of statewide juvenile justice reform in FY2015. All juveniles committed to the SDDOC in FY2022 through FY2024 were for delinquent offenses, as zero commitments were for CHINS offenses, such as truancy or running away.
